HOME.

Home! home! the word that sounds so sweet,
That music breathes wheres'er we roam.
The goal where fondest memories meet, Our Eton spot, our youth's blest home.
When worldly cares compel to leave,
And on life's checkered journey roam;
When foes surround and friends deceive, We miss the innocence of home.
When sickness prostrates, sorrows press,
And anxious cares like a mass come;
When racked by pain; in each distress We miss the sympathy of home.
When blighted prospects fill our path,
And troubles flow with angry foam;
When clover hopes all end in earth, We miss, we miss the joys of home.
When far from thee some pleasures meet,
And joys enliven life's bound dinner;
We turn to thee with memories sweet,
And contrast still all joys with home.
When time demands no longer stay,
And bids us look to death's dark gloom;
What other hope can fears affray, But that blest hope of Heaven, our home?
When we, at last, this life resign, An earthly body to the tomb, God grants, and the grave's confines, We may rest in Heaven at home.

Emerge in a Cuban Theatre.

A BEAUTIFUL YOUNG CUBAN LADY KILLED.
Correspondence of the New Orleans Times, dated Havana, January 23d, says: A most brutal and cowardly assassination of a young Cuban girl occurred last night at the theatre, while the Cuban revolutionary song was being sung, and the Spanish authorities here are endeavoring to remove the damnable stain of the transaction by circulating various mild accounts of it; one of which I have just heard is, that the fighting first commenced outside the theatre. I was present and so were several other Americans, and I must say that I never saw anything so mean and cowardly before in my life. The facts are these: A very handsome young lady, the daughter of Aldama, one of the whitest and most noble of all Cubans, wore upon her left breast the American flag with the inscription, "Long live the Republic of Cuba!" upon it. When the stirring song was being sung the whole audience arose and cheered this young lady, and as she rose to acknowledge the salute—all eyes were now bent upon her—a low, mean, cowardly Spaniard shot her with a revolver, killing her instantly. Two American gentlemen occupied the box adjoining Señorita Aldama, whose names I do not know, but one of these seeing the pistol pointed at the young lady's breast, drew his revolver, and a second after the Spaniard had fired, blew the top of the head off the cowardly assassin. Instantly the theatre was the scene of the greatest confusion and the Spanish troops who had been placed outside in great numbers, now rushed in at less than a minute, and commenced firing upon the mass of huddled, unarmed, innocent men and women. The Spanish troops were bragging this morning that they had killed two hundred persons. I am pretty sure there were at least half that number killed and wounded.
But the excitement has prevailed all day, and business is almost suspended. Proclamations by the Captain General, ordering citizens to stay at home, are posted up, at the same time saying that the leaders have been arrested, which is not so, but, on the other hand, they arrested some ten or twelve Cubans, who were the innocent occupants of the theatre, and not one Spaniard has been arrested. The liberals are forming a camp and fortifying in the south west part of the city, as it is rumored, and hundreds of Spanish troops are hurrying hither and thither through the streets. It seems that they have already had a fight, as about fifty Spanish troops have just passed my window, bearing upon their shoulders the corpse of a man whose body was literally riddled with bullets. I have been down, and attempted to learn the particulars, but cannot learn anything but that he was a traitor.
The excitement is mounting up and I shall not be surprised to find martial law proclaimed before night.

A large panther is creating much excitement in Davidson County, Tennessee. Eight cows and thirteen hogs have been killed and half devoured by the animal. A hunting party has been tracing its footprints in the snow, but have had trouble with their hounds, which seem to be timid. The shriek of the monster, resembling the cry of a child, has been heard by the hunters, but only its tracks and its half eaten victims have yet been seen. It is supposed that the animal belonged to a menagerie which was wrecked some months since, by the collision of railroad trains in Mississippi.
The animals were all removed and caged. The animal that then made its escape, has, no doubt, found its way to Tennessee.

Probably the oldest tree on record is a cypress at Somma, in Lombardy, that was known to be standing when Julius Caesar lived—nineteen hundred years ago. It is one hundred and six feet high and twenty feet in circumference.

Late Eastern News.

Chicago, March 10.—A Times' special says: Snow of the Intelligencer who was recently removed as commissioner of the Pacific railroad is writing a report denouncing the construction and operation of the road in the most unmeasured terms.

The Tribune's special says, Hamilton Fish will be sent to England.

A cabinet meeting was held to-day, but little business was transacted. Secretary Cox qualified to-day. Secretary Cox has arrived and will qualify to-morrow. Delano has entered upon the duties of commissioner of Internal revenue, and many changes in important offices connected with the revenue are expected.

A Republican special says: The people of Nova Scotia are about to ask England for a release of all political convicts. They will send a delegation to Washington and ascertain upon what terms they can be received as a State. The feeling in the colony favors the measure.

Madrid, March 12.—Figueroa, minister of finance has asked for a loan of one thousand million reals to meet the extraordinary expenses of the government.

St. Louis, March 10.—Gen. Sheridan arrived to-day and left for Washington. He considers the Indian troubles settled and the savages entirely subjugated.

Washington, March 9.—Among the bills introduced in the Senate to-day, was one by Senator Morton, granting the right of way to the Memphis and El Paso railroad.

Washington, March 15.—Kellogg introduced a bill granting the right of way for a railroad from New Orleans to the Rio Grand in the direction of Mazatlan.

The Senate passed with amendments, the House Bill, to suspend the tenure of office bill until the next session of Congress, also the bill to enforce the 14th amendment.

Morton offered a joint resolution, providing that a majority of any State Legislature, shall be sufficient to ratify a constitutional amendment; and that the withdrawal, resignation, or temporary refusal of a minority, to act, shall not affect the validity of such ratification by the majority. Davis objected and the resolution went over.

Bingham, under the suspension of rules, introduced a joint resolution, which passed, for the protection of the United States in the Union Pacific railroad. It authorizes the company to remove its general office from New York to Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, Council Bluffs or Omaha.

New York, March 16.—Two hundred and sixty hogs were killed at the Hudson River depot by order of the Sanitary inspectors.
They were all more or less diseased. Not withstanding the vigilance of the inspectors, it is believed that a number of diseased hogs have been thrown upon the market.

Chicago, March 15.—It is reported that o-ders will be issued assigning Schlesinger to the late command of Sheridan, with head quarters at Fort Leavenworth; Sheridan to Sherman's command, headquarters at St. Louis.
Howard will probably be sent South; Gen.
Thomas will be assigned to the command of the Pacific with head quarters at San Francisco; Halleck will be sent to the command of the new division of the South not yet organized.
Augur remains in command of the department of the Platte; Hancock goes to Dakota; Pope to the department of the Lakes; Terry will command Georgia and North Carolina; Stoneman goes to Arizona.

The wealthiest man in America is said to be young Stevens, son of the late Elwin A.
Stevens, of Hoboken, who, when he reaches his majority, will be worth $150,000,000, by the advance of his estate in New Jersey.

Ole Bull gave a concert in New York, at Steinway Hall, for the benefit of his fellow sufferers by the late disaster on the Ohio river.
